In 2016, Coastal Habitat welcomed more than 100 students from across the country who came to help give a "hand up" to local families and neighborhoods.

EVERY HAND MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

A Home Transforms a Family's Future

ON FATHER'S DAY weekend of 2016, Dolan Williams received the keys to his new home. Williams, a widower and father of three was chosen from more than 70 applications for the safe, basic and energy efficient home in Asbury Park.

"When you have a hand up - the kind that Coastal Habitat offers - that rare hand up is something you have never felt before and turns out to be a special kind of support... hope," said Dolan Williams, partner homeowner. "It's hope for me as well as my children and then their children as the years go by. The people who volunteer and give to this organization don't just help today, they make a difference for lifetimes. Now we can dream bigger and plan for the future instead of losing sleep about next week or next month."

Construction Manager Ollie Lowery added, "It's so gratifying to see our long-term work resulting in the evolution of neighborhoods thanks to so many, especially all the volunteers."

MORE THAN A HOME

Together, We Strengthen Communities

SOMETIMES when we grab on to a hand reaching out for home repair assistance, we recognize the actual need is much greater - more than our mission or expertise. Over the past 20 years, we have curated a charitable network that runs deep and wide. That network enables us to connect partner homeowners with other important resources that help with healthcare, childcare, nutrition, financial education and much more.

homeowners with mobility issues. The impact we've made in the first year has been something we are very proud of — 30 Southern Monmouth County seniors and veterans are living a more safe and secure life because of the repairs we've made.

THROUGH SHELTER, WE EMPOWER

A homeowners shares her story

THE OWNERS of a Victorian home in Neptune City received a wish come true thanks to our Neighborhood Revitalization Initiative. In the fall, the charity made critical exterior and structural repairs as well as cosmetic enhancements to the historic home.

“My house was built by my great grandfather, Isaac Whitfield Richardson as a wedding present for his son and his new wife,” said Rhonda Ladaye. “Great Grandpop came here more than 100 years ago and purchased 15 acres on Sand Hill. Then he built homes for his sisters, brothers and cousins. Today, I am the last Mohican (Eastern Algonquian Native American) on the hill and the fourth generation owner of our great house filled with wonderful family memories. I grew up feeling safe and cared for, surrounded by family and good food. But there is a lot that goes in to keeping up with the maintenance of these old Victorians and it was getting into heartbreakingly bad condition until Coastal Habitat stepped in.”

Every day, the Coastal Habitat team is determined to make a local difference.
